

Building High Availability Applications

High availability refers to systems that are durable and likely to operate continuously without failure for a long time.

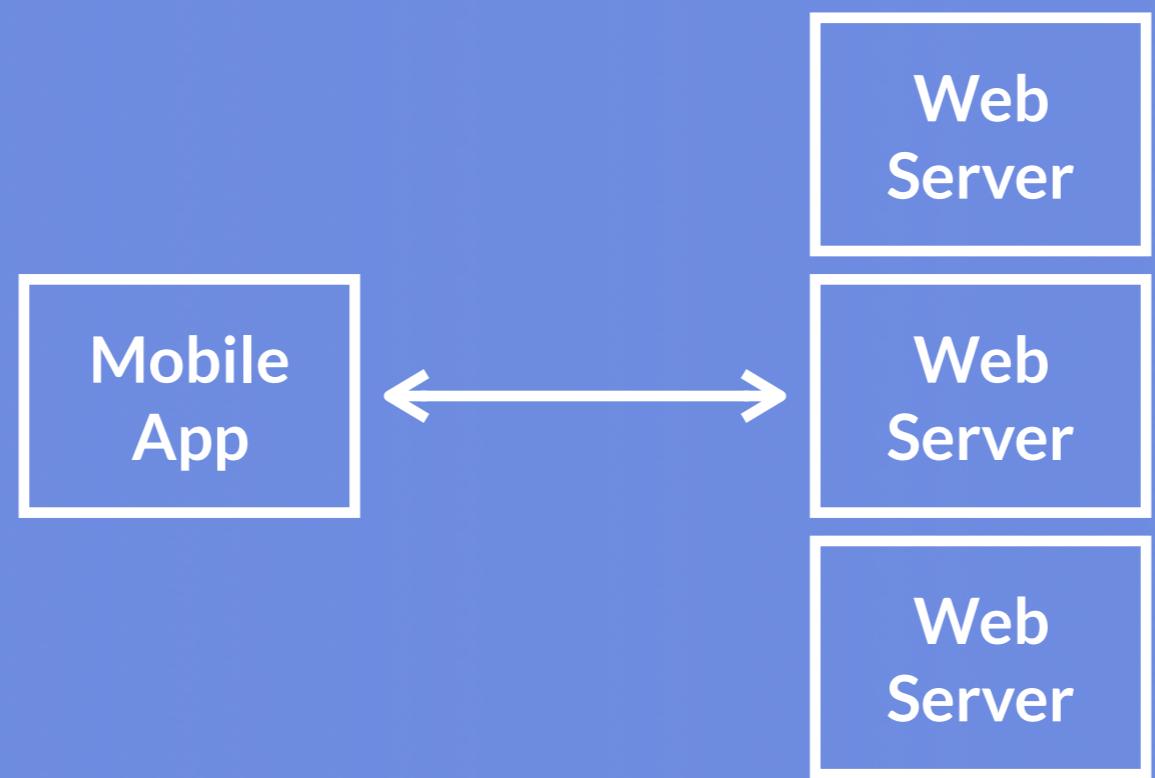

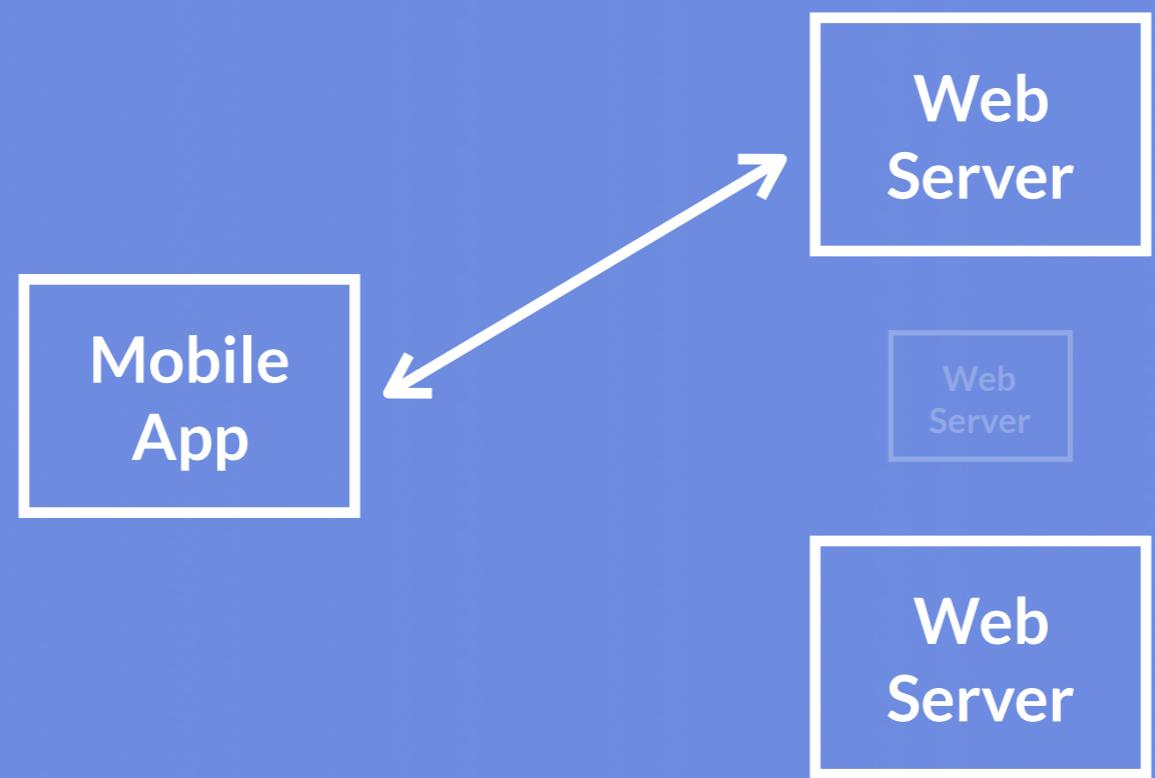

...

A load balancer provides resilience and scalability.

What about databases?

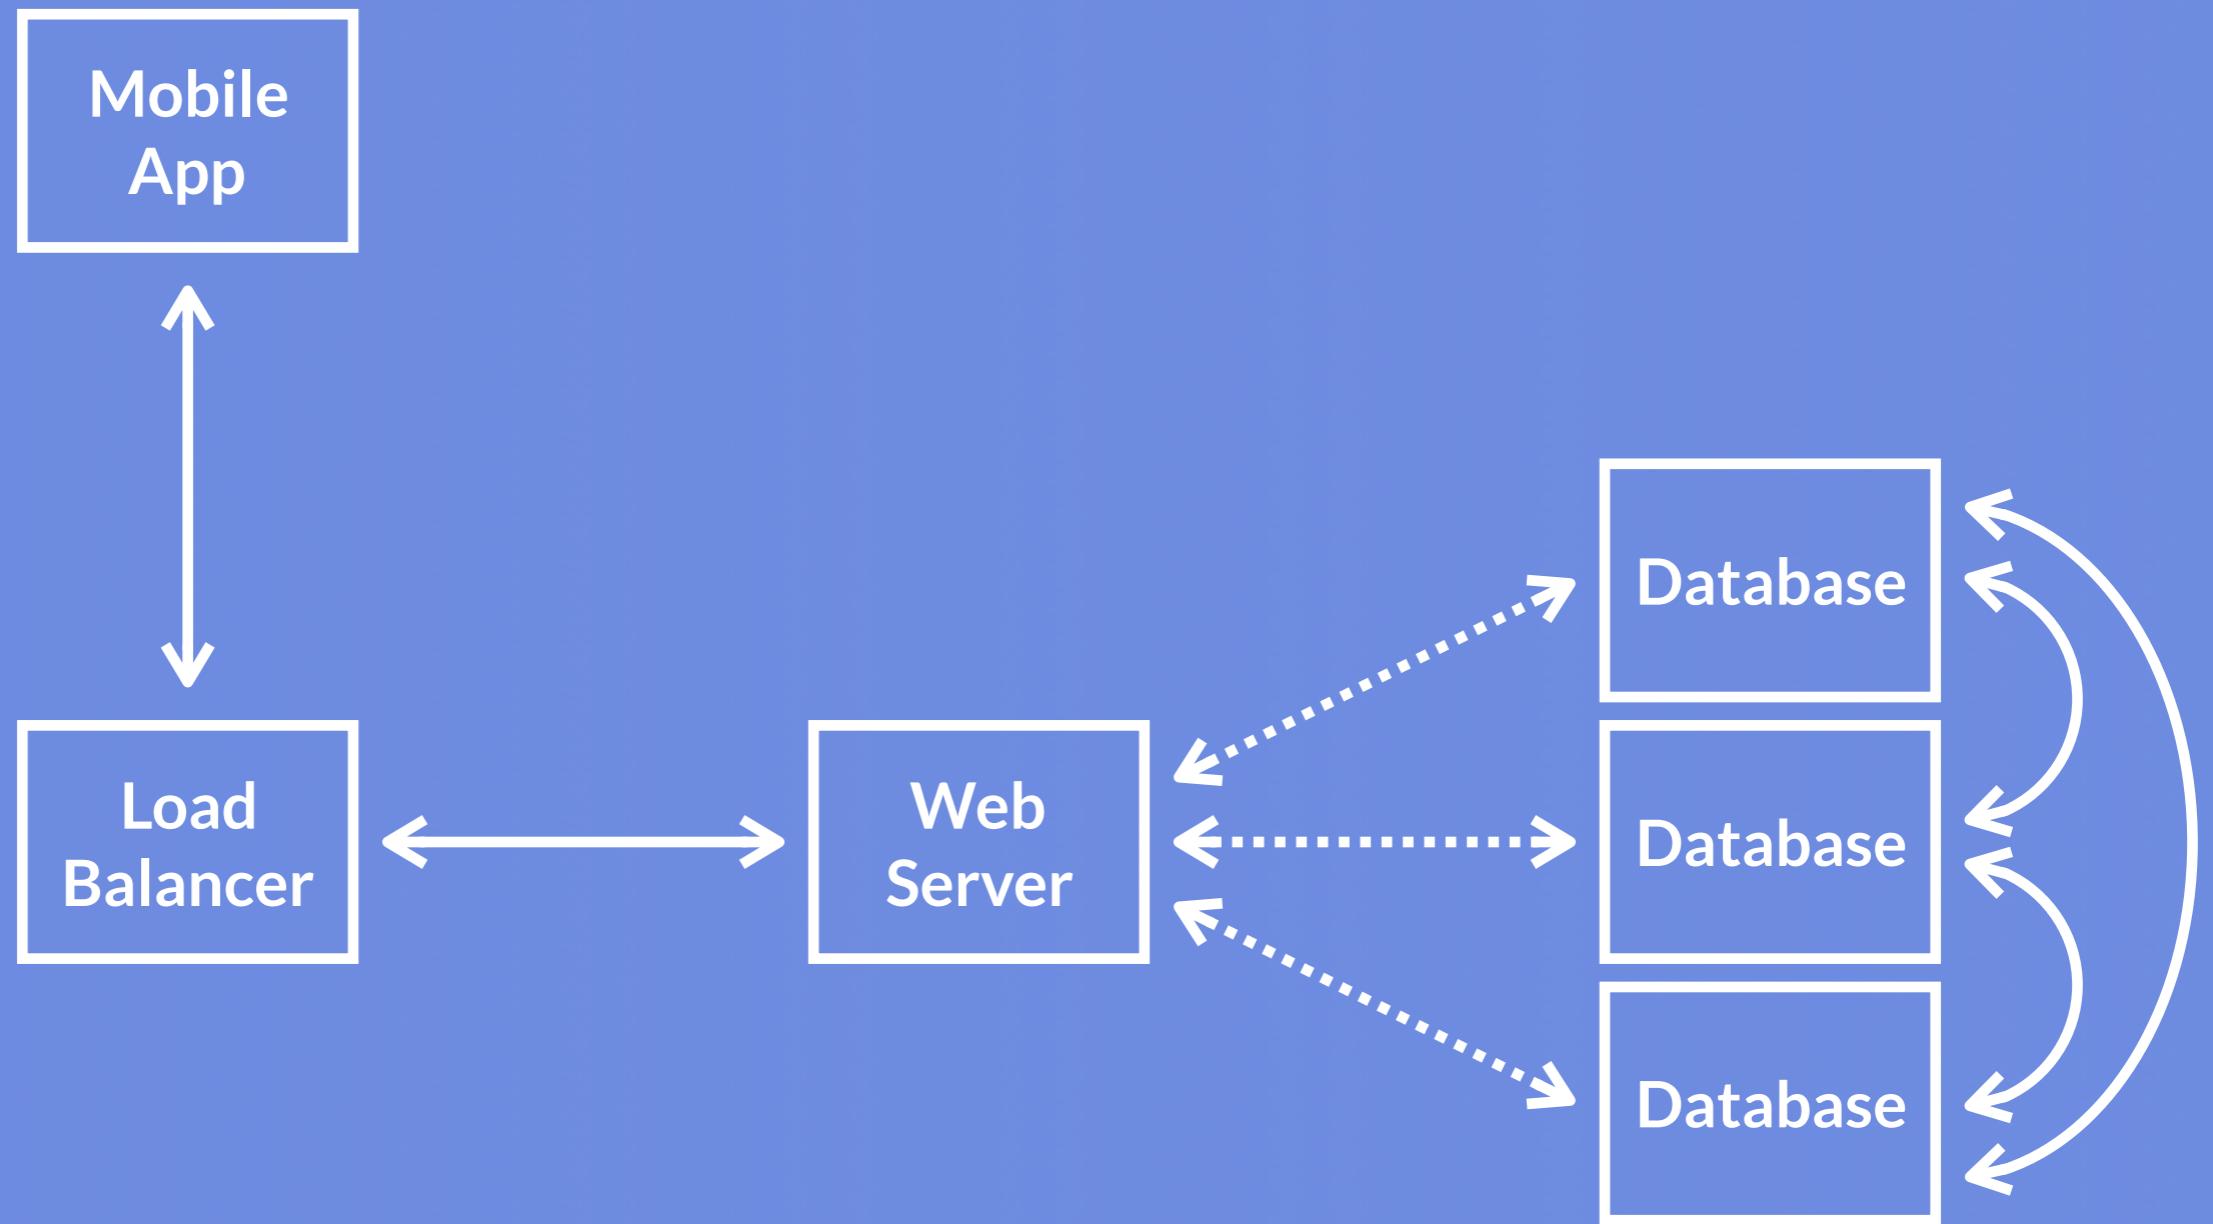

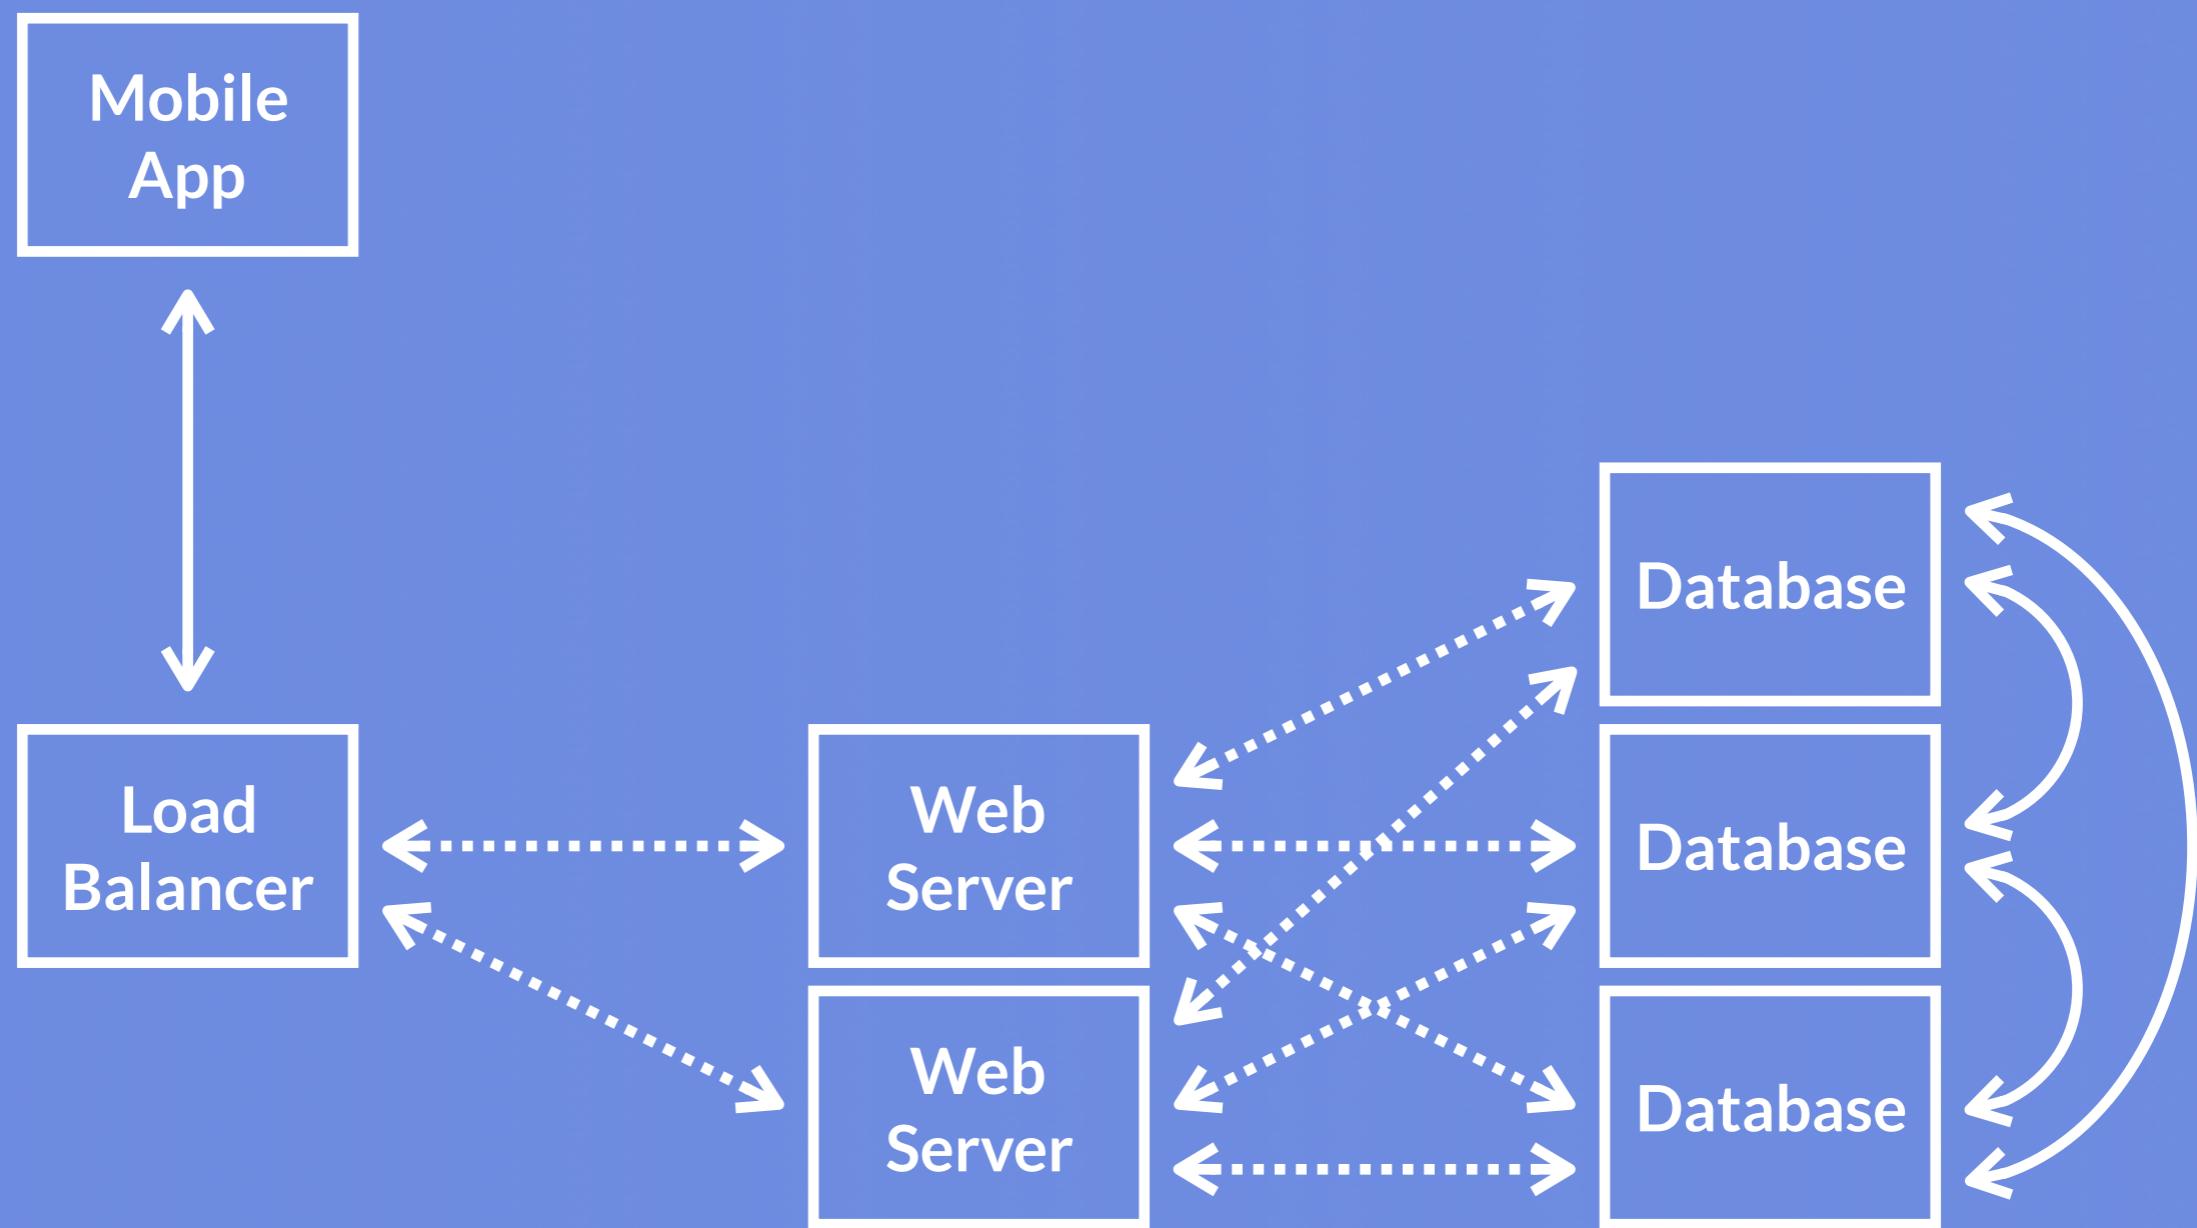

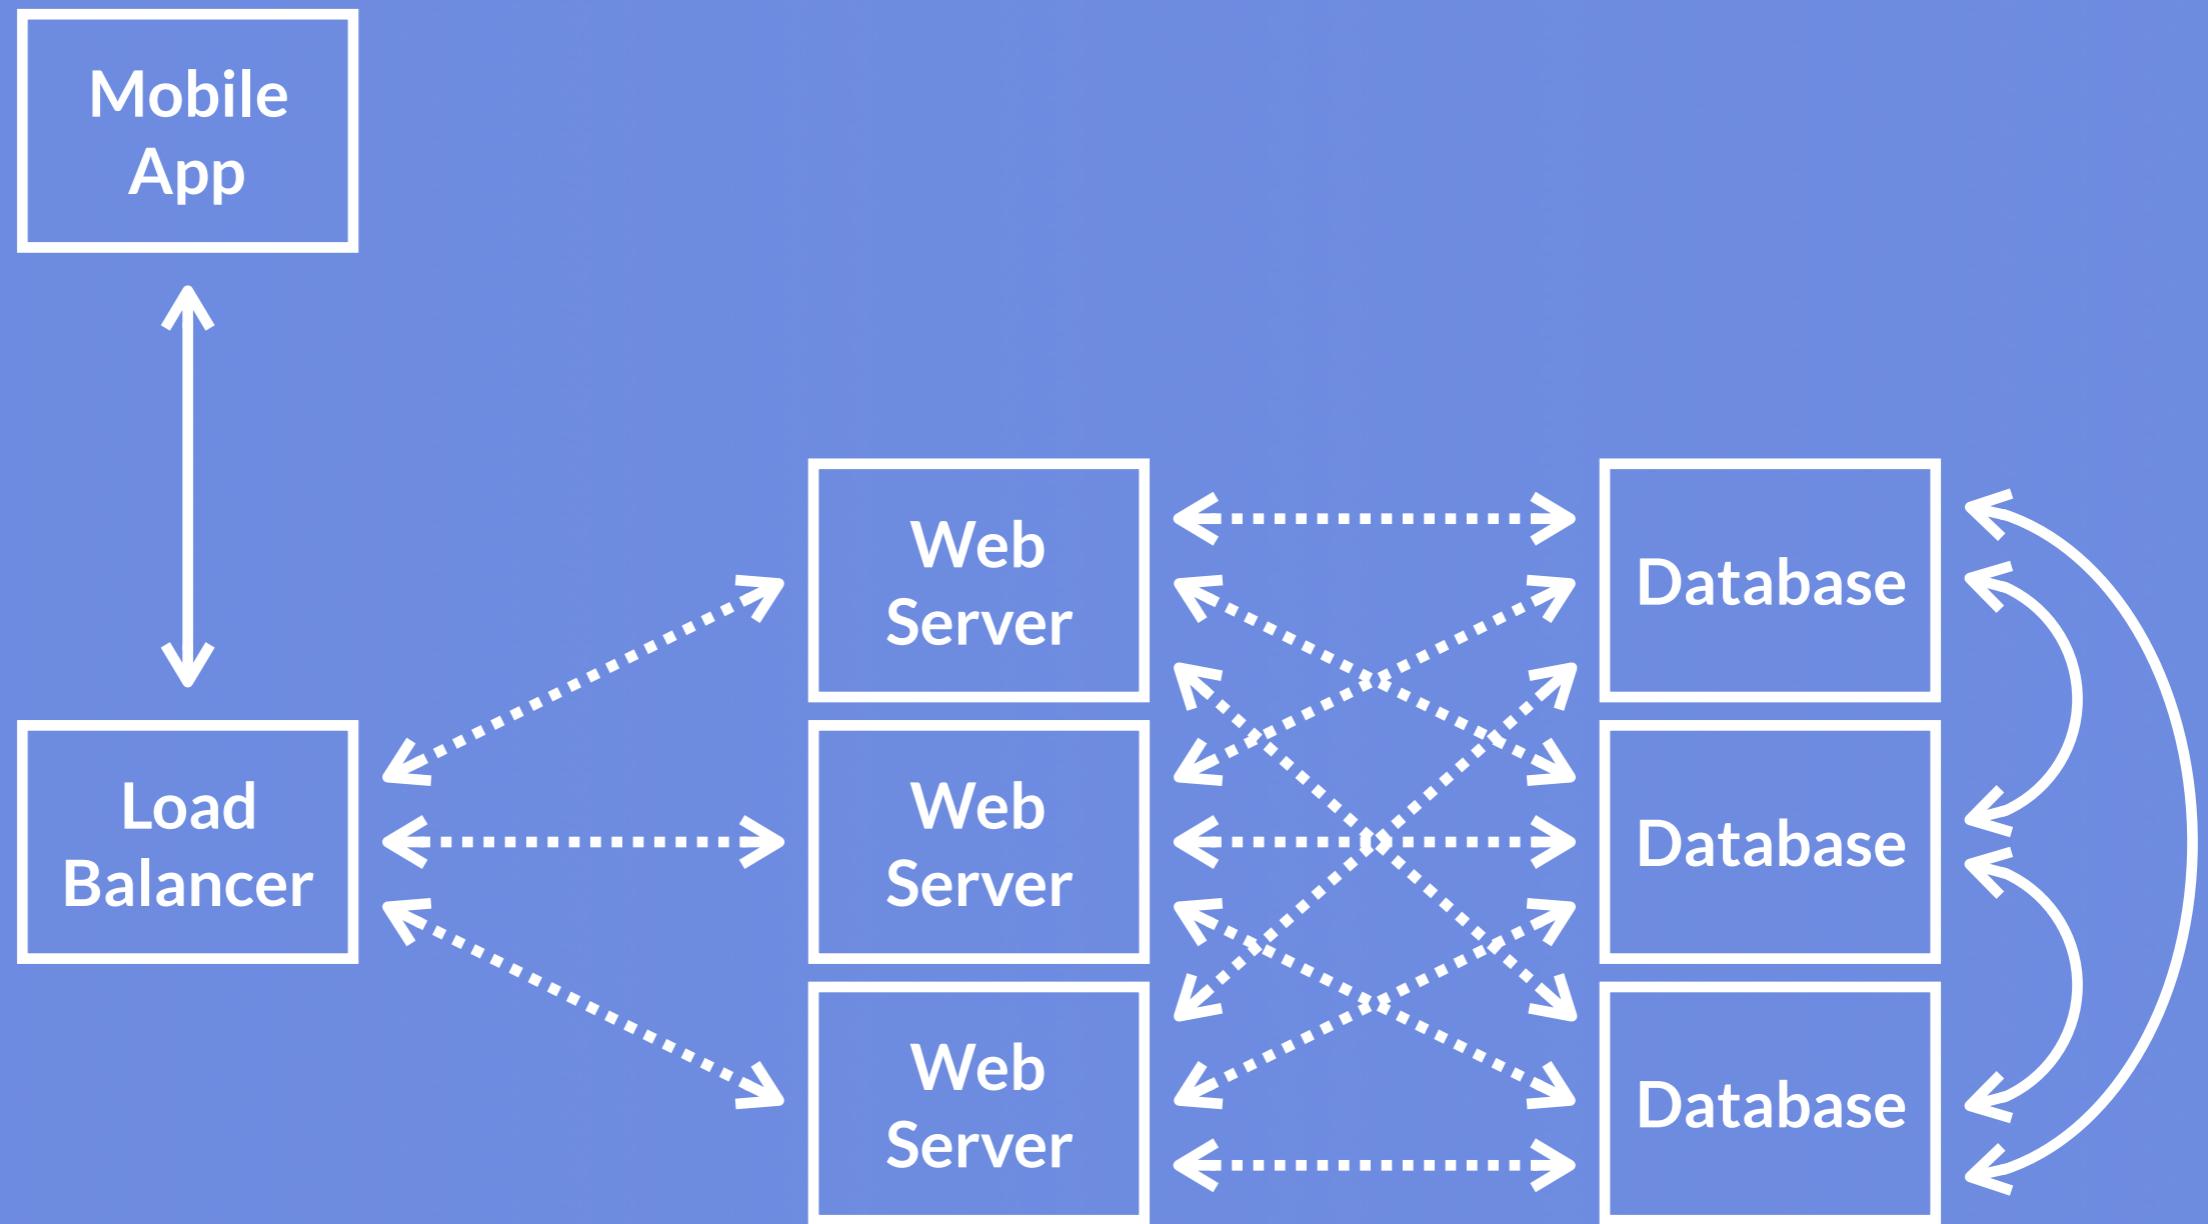

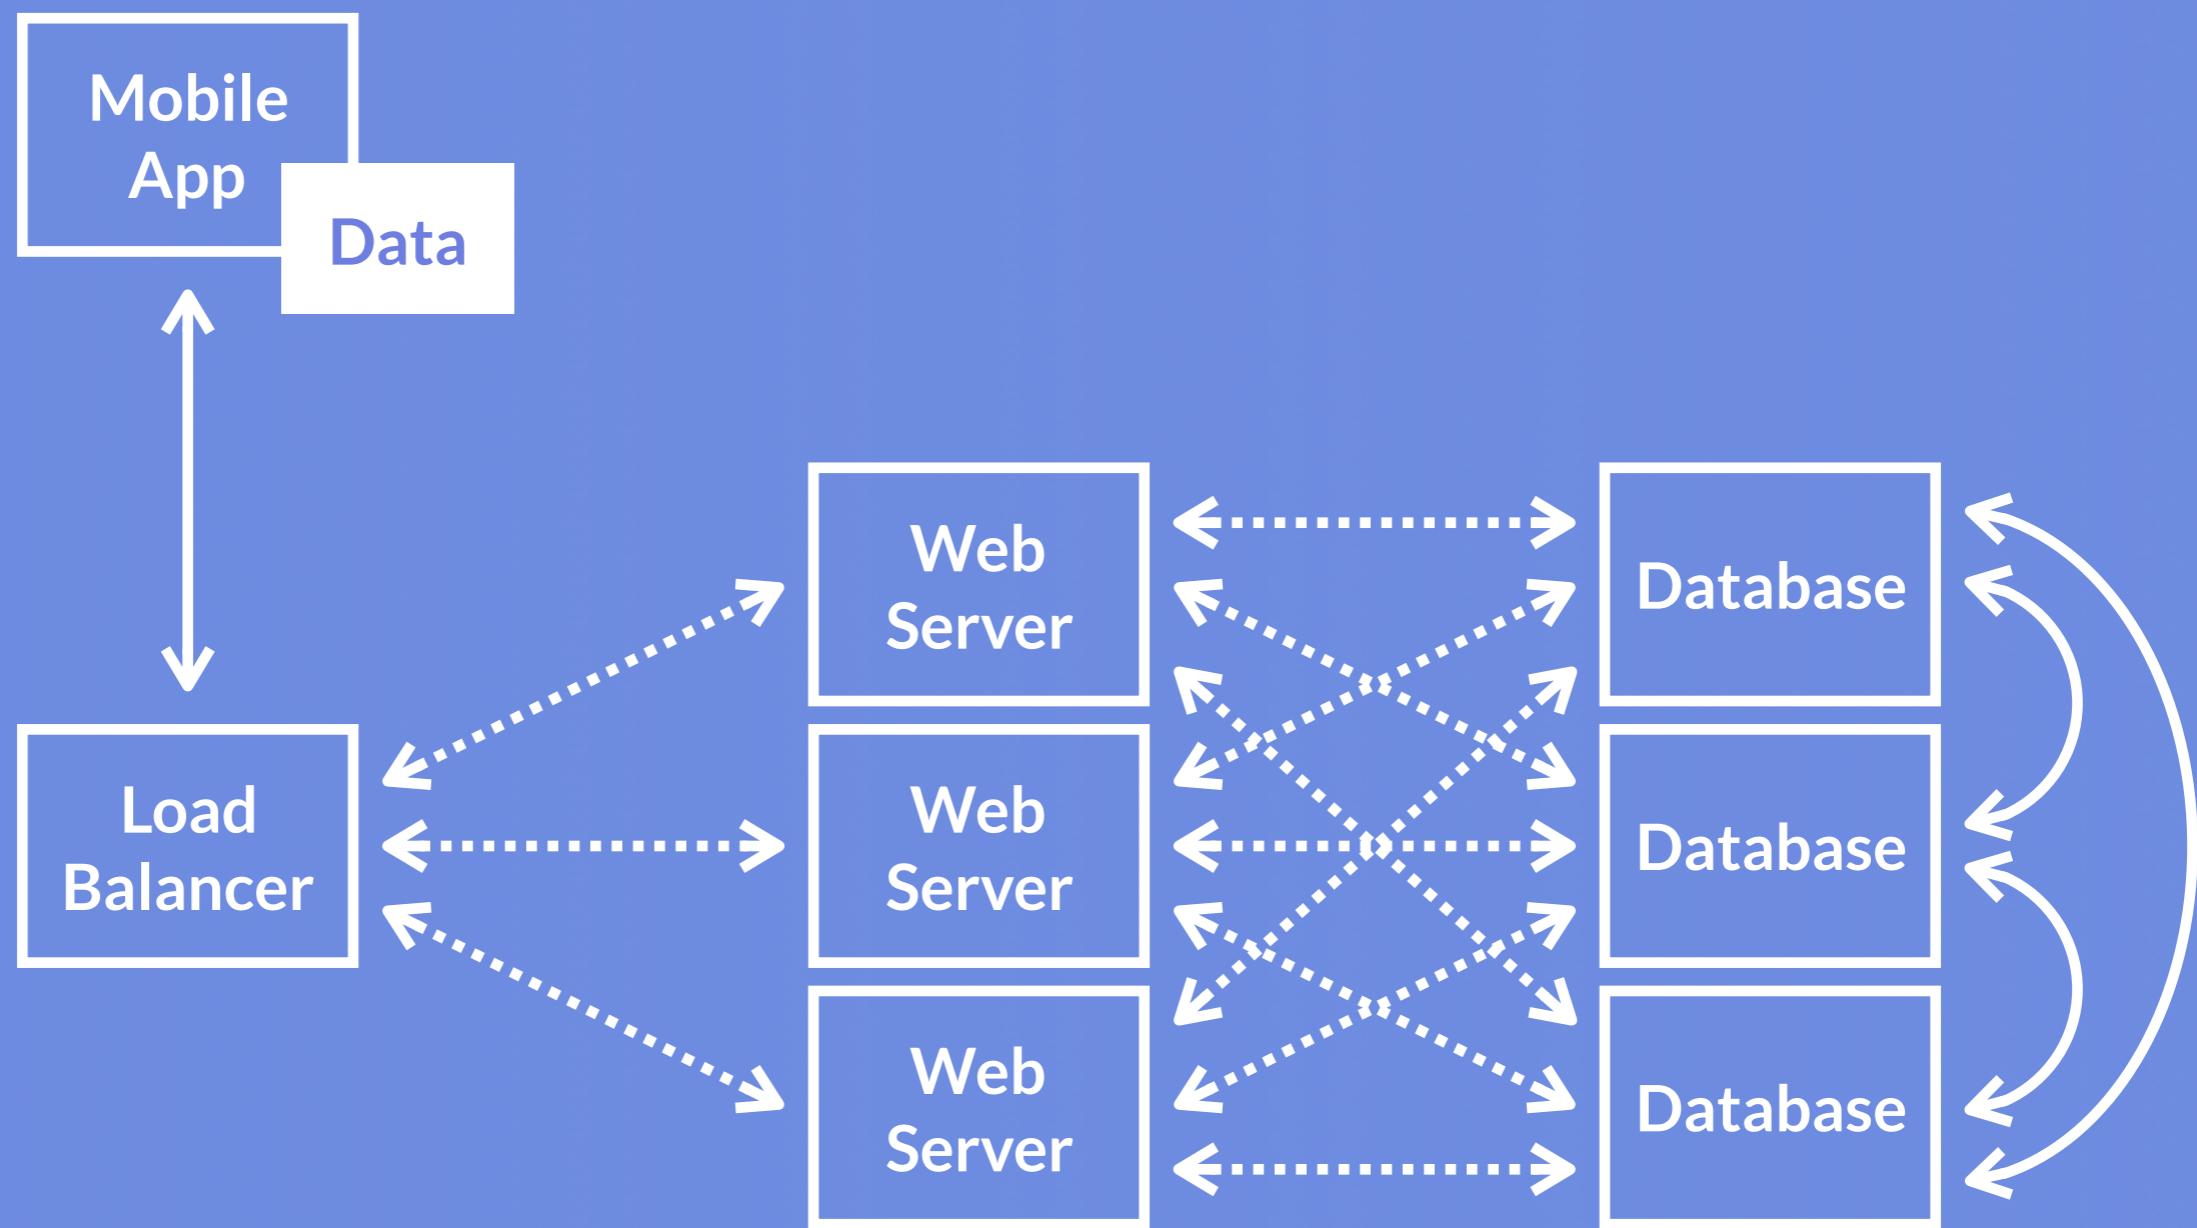

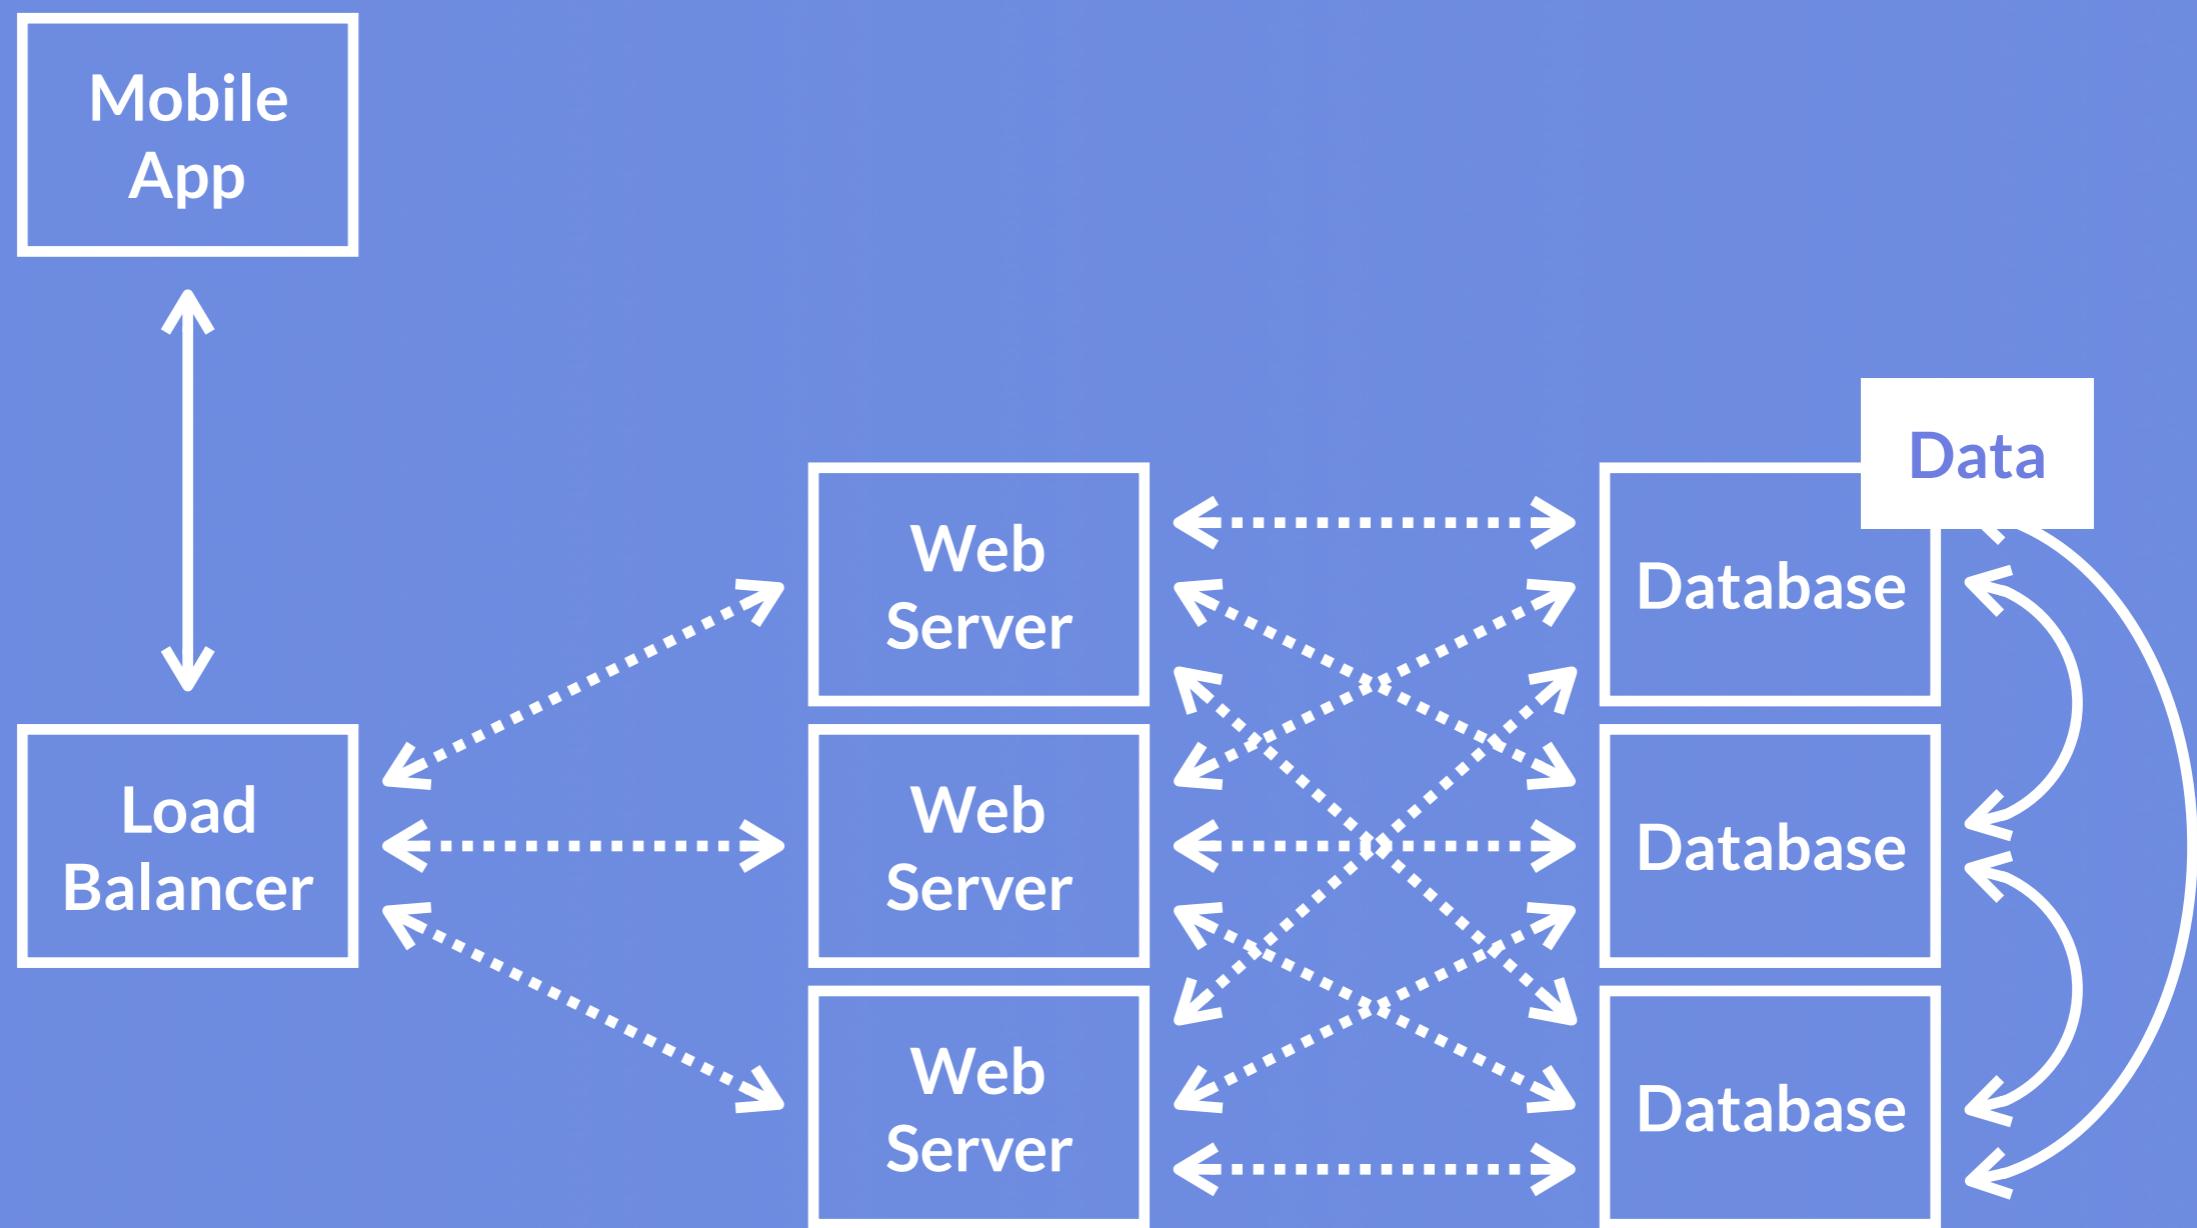

What if I need more web servers?

Facebook

